Hospital gets cable TV soon

Patients in Haliburton Hospital soon will have access to cable television programs, thanks to a $2200 donation from the Haliburton Rotary Club and a $400 donation from Haliburton Cable TV owner Bob Bishop.

Bill Emmerson, project chairman for the Haliburton Rotary Club, said a decision to proceed with cable installation was made after a wind storm snapped off the hospital's television tower earlier this year.

The cable will be strung on Bell Canada poles by the telephone company at a cost of about $1800. Cost of the cable will be shared equally between the club and Bob Bishop.

Bell Canada is presently completing an engineering study for the cable installation, after which final costs will be known. The hospital will pay the monthly charge for service once the cable has been installed.

At present four televisions are available for use by patients at the hospital.

The cable is expected to be strung within the next two months, Emmerson said.

Lake level report sent to officials

Haliburton County's water levels committee has completed a comprehensive report which has been submitted to Parks Canada officials. The report charts levels in area reservoir lakes over the past several years and recommends steps to minimize the impact of drawdown to supply the Trent Severn waterway system.

Bicroft reeve Bill Howe, who is county council's representative on the committee, said the report is long, detailed and presents no easy solutions to the complex problem of water levels. In the long term, Howe told county council last Wednesday, new reservoir lakes may have to be linked to the waterway if large fluctuations at the northern end of the system are to be eliminated. But he noted that the ramifications of expanding the reservoir system are substantial both for wildlife and for property owners.

Once Parks Canada has had time to study the Haliburton water levels committee report, the two groups will meet to consider if action can be taken as a result of its recommendations.

Sign by-law coming

Haliburton County council will consider a by-law that would regulate the size and design of signs on county roads, including signs that identify cottages.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey suggested last Wednesday that a by-law should be brought to the table as soon as possible to "clean up quite a mess". He noted that if the county "took the lead," other municipalities might follow the example and apply regulations to make the countryside more attractive. The Dysart reeve asked that the by-law, which has been considered in draft form in the past but never implemented, be brought back to council in September.

But county engineer Bill Obee

Dr. Karl Hartwick appears to be enjoying himself as he uses a cross cut saw to perform surgery on a patient. It was all part of the fun at the Haliburton Legion carnival parade last Wednesday. This float was entered by Haliburton Hospital, and was one of the most entertaining in the parade.

Festivals stress family fun

Minden Rotary Carnival, Stanhope Fun Day this week

Our pioneer past and family fun are the themes for two of Haliburton's annual summer festivals planned for this week. Pioneer Days, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Minden, will be held this Wednesday and Thursday evening, while Stanhope Fun Day, organized by the Municipality of Stanhope, is scheduled to take place on Saturday.

Minden's summer carnival will be launched with a canoe competition on the Gull River beginning at 5 p.m. Following the races, the annual Rotary Carnival parade will take place at 6:30 p.m. The bands and floats will follow a route along Minden's main street and will finish at the arena. In keeping with the carnival's theme, spectators as well as participants in the parade are encouraged to wear pioneer costumes.

A midway, located at the arena, is also planned to entertain those attending the two day event. A chance to listen to music and do some dancing will also be provided both nights at the Minden Community Centre. All proceeds from the carnival will be used by the Rotary Club to help support community projects.

The fun at Stanhope is set to begin early Saturday morning with a horseshoe tournament and a fancy dress parade. Registration for the tournament will take place at 9:30 a.m. and the parade will get rolling at 10 a.m. Children's races and contests are also scheduled to take place in the morning. For those with a sweet tooth a bake sale, beginning at noon, is sure to satisfy even the most discriminating palate.

Fire fighters from the Stanhope Fire Department will be on hand in the afternoon to demonstrate how injured victims are freed from the wreckage of a car accident. A dog show for all breeds and sizes will be held at 2 p.m. and a seniors tea will be served at 2:30. Bingo, cartoons, clowns, a rocket display and Scottish dancers will also entertain the crowds throughout the course of the afternoon. For those who like to take a chance, a side of beef will also be raffled off.

As well as demonstrating some of their skills, the local firemen will sponsor a Bavarian garden and beef on a bun will be served up by the municipality.

The day will conclude with a dance and buffet at the community centre. The theme of this year's dance is Ontario's Bicentennial. To help promote this theme, prizes will be awarded to couples with the best costumes.

Council question Chamber

Representatives frustrated by lack of direction

Haliburton County council's representatives to the local Chamber of Commerce have levelled stinging criticism at the Chamber's board of directors for vacillating on key issues. In a report to council last Wednesday, Lutterworth reeve Ron Gambell said there are "too many powerful people (on the Chamber board) who have a great deal to say and they won't listen." Gambell said there were "110 mistakes" in the Chamber's 1984 tourism directory, and that no one would accept the blame. "They're going around in circles," Gambell claimed.

Stanhope deputy reeve Elgin Stouffer, council's second representative to the Chamber, said looking out for the county's interest has been "a really difficult job" because there are many "individualistic directors" on the board.

Stouffer claimed the Chamber's building on Highway 35 is "a disgrace to the county", adding that he had made suggestions on ways to improve it but they have never been acted upon.

"I don't feel we're achieving what we should," Stouffer told council.

Both Gambell and Stouffer indicated that they would like to step down as council's representatives on the Chamber board.

But warden Lyle McKnight said county council should come up with ideas that would make Gambell and Stouffer's positions more worthwhile for the county.

Several members of council suggested that since council is a substantial contributor to the Chamber's annual budget, it should ask for a report on how money targeted for various projects has been spent. The request was formalized in a resolution.

Woman murdered in Harcourt area

A 20 year old Nova Scotia man has been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the slaying of Linda Love, a resident of Highland Crossroads Group Home near Harcourt. Colin MacKenzie, who also lived at the home, was charged following the discovery of the body of the 34 year-old mentally handicapped woman late Saturday morning.

Ontario Provincial Police officers from Apsley detachment were contacted by operators of the home on Friday night when it was discovered that Love was missing. Love, who had lived at the home for the past seven years, was last seen at approximately 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Sgt. Lyle Welton and Const. Steve Thibadeau conducted a search of the area Friday night but were unable to detect any signs of the victim's whereabouts. An OPP helicopter and tracking dogs were brought in early Saturday to aid the local forces in their search.

Love was found by police dogs in a shallow grave approximately 100 metres from the home. The cause of her death is not yet known. The body was taken to Peterborough Civic Hospital where an autopsy will be performed. Police also say they are unable to provide a motive for the killing.

MacKenzie is described as having emotional problems and has lived at Highland Crossroads since it began seven years ago. It is operated by two couples who care for about 10 residents.

MacKenzie had completed Grade 10 in an occupational course at Bancroft High School and had intended to continue to Grade 11.

Cardiff opposes by-law

Cardiff Township has asked the provincial minister of municipal affairs and housing to intervene on a Haliburton County by-law to restructure county council representation. The by-law, passed in May, eliminates seats for deputy reeves from Cardiff, Monmouth and Snowdon Townships, the three municipalities with the smallest population. Its intent is to provide a more equitable distribution of votes among municipalities, but Cardiff wants to retain the status quo.

The Cardiff letter asks MMAH minister Claude Bennett to overrule the county by-law, based on the fact that each township was allowed two representatives when the Haliburton Act was passed by the province in 1982, giving the area full county status.

Bicroft reeve Bill Howe responded to the Cardiff letter by noting that in his view, county council had followed proper procedure when it approved the by-law to restructure representation.

"Nothing was missed in the discussion" that led up to the vote on the by-law, Howe said. He urged council to take no action until the housing minister has had a chance to consider Cardiff's claim.

Cardiff Deputy Reeve Ross Duncan said he did not expect a response from the minister for several months. The controversial by-law will take effect in December, when a new county warden is appointed.

Huskies seek new coach

Haliburton's Northernways Huskies Junior C hockey club will be back in the Georgian Bay league this winter if team sponsors can find a coach and manager for the club. Derrell Stamp, who coached the team to a respectable showing last season, has had to step down because of other demands on his time, and the search is now on to find a replacement for him.

Team president Scott Larue said Tuesday that the Huskies will play a 34 game schedule in the northern loop of the Georgian Bay league against Parry Sound, Huntsville and Gravenhurst. The season will also include a home and home series against Penetang, Midland, Oro, Stayner and Essa in the southern loop. The league finals will pit the top team in each division against each other.

As well as looking for a coach and manager, the Huskies also will approach local businesses for sponsorship. Larue said he hopes last year's sponsors will continue to support the team this year.

Last year the team offered season ticket holders a draw for a trip to the Caribbean, and a similar draw is expected to be organized this fall.

Training camp for the Huskies will get underway early in September, with the opening game of the season set for early October.

County has drawings for bridge

Preliminary drawings for a proposed new Ingoldsby bridge have been received by Haliburton County's roads department. Engineer Bill Obee told county council last Wednesday that the drawings will be reviewed and a meeting arranged with Anson, Hindon and Minden council, in whose municipality the bridge is located.

County council decided earlier this year to replace the one lane bridge in Ingoldsby with a new structure, but was unhappy with the original design, which would have reduced clearance between the bridge deck and the water. The new design is expected to retain clearances of the present bridge and minimize the need to encroach on adjacent properties.

Construction of the new bridge is expected to begin later this year.

Police News

General Occurrences

During the period of July 16 to 22, personnel at Minden Detachment investigated the following occurrences: 21 motor vehicle accidents resulting in six minor injuries, and 95 general occurrences, including 15 thefts, six break and enters, and eight compassionate messages delivered.

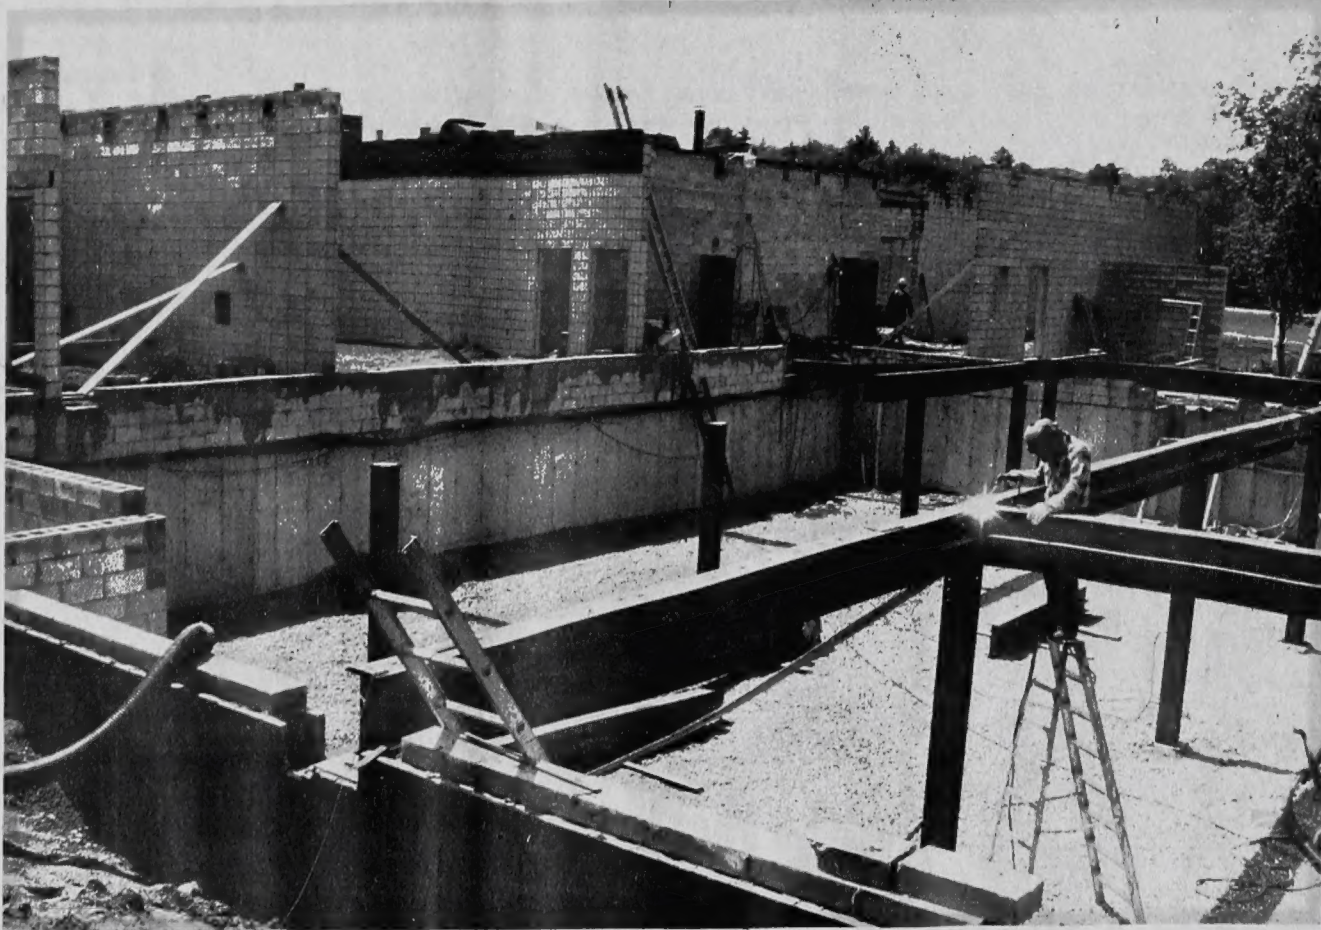

Haliburton Break-in

The Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton was found to have been forcibly entered at 1:50 a.m. on July 18. The thieves made off with an estimated $1,800 worth of handcrafted jewellery which was on display there. The alarm system, which was not operational that night, has since been repaired.

Accidents

On Wednesday, July 18, at 5:15 p.m. on Highway 35 in Minden Township, Donald Booth, age 46, of Minden was southbound in his '74 Ford truck. Thomas George, age 19, of Kinmount was driving his '73 Yamaha motorcycle also southbound. As the truck commenced a left turn the motorcycle collided with the left rear corner. George was thrown from his motorcycle into the box of the truck. His injuries were not serious. Damage to the truck was $400 and to the motorcycle $700. Booth was charged with an improper left turn.

Of the 21 reported accidents, eight were single car mishaps where drivers for one reason or another lost control of their vehicles and left the roadway. Property damage exceeded $30,000. Police say the fact that there were no serious injuries is due, in part, to the use of seatbelts. "Still there is an element of luck involved," according to Constable Gary Chapman. "As a car hurtles out of control and crosses the oncoming lane it is only luck, or the lack of it, which dictates the end result. It is a game of roulette and it is inevitable that in some future press release we'll learn of the players who paid with their lives," Chapman said.

A new conference centre is taking shape at the west end of the Pinestone Inn near Haliburton. The centre will enhance the resort's capacity to host corporate seminars and meetings. Here Bob Fife of John Beachli Construction Enterprises Ltd., Haliburton, welds a steel beam that will support the floor of the large conference room. The project is expected to be completed this fall, and is part of an ongoing expansion plan for Pinestone.

Truancy rules now changed

Habitual truancy will no longer be an offence under the Education Act for a pupil but refusal to obey a court order to attend school may be dealt with as contempt of court. Parents may continue to be prosecuted for failing to cause their child to attend school.

The change was included in amendments to the Education Act introduced by Education Minister Dr. Bette Stephenson, which follows the passing of the federal Young Offenders Act and the repeal of the Juvenile Delinquents Act.

Under the new amendments a school board may initiate a school attendance proceeding in the family division of a provincial court. A breach of a court order from such proceedings could lead to the offender, the child or the parent, being charged with contempt of court.

Previously, parents who refused to send their child to school could be fined up to $100 and the child who refused to attend school could be declared a juvenile delinquent under the Juvenile Delinquents Act.

Dr. Stephenson said that it will be up to the personnel of a school board to decide whether to prosecute a parent or to initiate a school attendance.

Cardiff council

A regular meeting of Cardiff Township council was held July 6, and the following matters were considered:

Council accepted a joint tender from Evans as accepted by the Township of Faraday in the amount of $11,688.50, being the lowest tender received for prime and double surface treatment of 0.6 miles of Lawrence Avenue.

The clerk was authorized to invite tenders for exterior finishing of the storage building on L29 C9 as per specifications submitted to council.

Council requested that the council of the County of Haliburton provide evidence of the assent of the municipality to by-law(s) enacted by the Provisional County of Haliburton to assume present County Roads No. 5 and

County offices to get new electric heat

Haliburton County's office building in Minden will be converted to electric heating on the recommendation of council's property committee. The two storey masonry building is presently heated with an oil fired steam system, but it has been plagued by leaks and breakdowns in recent years. Last winter, two ground floor offices had no heat because of an unrepairable leak in a steam line leading to radiators.

Monmouth deputy reeve Harry Clark, chairman of council's property committee, said officials from Ontario Hydro had examined the building carefully and drafted a report which suggests ways to make the structure more energy efficient and advocates the installation of baseboard heating throughout and individual thermostats in some offices. Clark urged council to act on the report, noting that problems with the existing heating system are acute, and could lead to costly damage, particularly to the first floor ceilings.

Hydro official W.C. Porter attended the meeting to outline the utility's findings and present a report on electrical heating requirements.

Following the presentation, council agreed to follow the property committee's recommendation and call for tenders to supply and install a baseboard electrical heating system in the building. Tenders will be reviewed at council's September meeting.

Haliburton's Lion's Club hopes to raise as much as $500 this Sunday as they play host to a canoe race along Lake Kashagawigamog. The race, which is the first of its kind sponsored by the local Lion's Club, will begin at Ingoldsby and conclude at Rotary Beach in Haliburton. Registration for the race will take place at the starting point in Ingoldsby at 11 a.m. Sunday, with the race set to begin following the registration. Participants will be asked to pay a $5 registration fee.

The proceeds from the race will be used by the club for various community projects.

Trophies will be awarded by the Lion's Club to the paddlers of the first canoe to finish the six mile course.

Sign by-law proposed

said it would not be possible to work out details of the by-law that quickly. Obee noted that the by-law is complex, and suggested that it would be more feasible to try to introduce it before the end of the year.

Council agreed to the proposal, and will consider the by-law at its November or December meeting.

Accountable

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has come under fire once again, this time from Haliburton County council, which has asked the Chamber to provide a formal report on how money from county coffers is being spent. The latest criticism of the Chamber has come from Lutterworth reeve Ron Gambell and Stanhope deputy reeve Elgin Stouffer, both of whom indicated to council last Wednesday that they are frustrated with the apparent lack of direction of the Chamber at the board level. Gambell claimed the organization is "Going around in circles", and pointed to the fact that the 1984 directory book contained more than a hundred errors. Stouffer's main concern is the state of the Chamber building, which he said is "a disgrace to the county." Stouffer said he has made suggestions about improving the building but that they have never been acted upon.

These may be legitimate points of view based on the councillors' experiences at Chamber board meetings, but they need to be placed in perspective. Fundamentally, it must be remembered that the Chamber board is made up of volunteers who have a sincere interest in the county and a willingness to devote their time and energy to a difficult task. That doesn't mean that the Chamber board is above criticism. But it does mean that criticism must be fair and balanced. The Chamber has come through a difficult period in the past year and a half, and it is unlikely that the problems stemming from the long search for a new manager will dissipate for many months to come. But Chamber directors appear cautiously optimistic that the worst of the organization's troubles are behind it, and that it can continue to play an important role in the business climate of Haliburton County. County council has a right to know how tax money it turns over has been used. It has a right to have its voice heard at Chamber board meetings. But it also has an obligation to provide constructive criticism. Failing that, the county may have to accept responsibility for the tasks it appears to think the Chamber is not carrying out.

As for the claim that the Chamber office on Highway 35 is "a disgrace", Chamber directors would almost certainly agree. The question is, what can be done about it? A little bit of paint and patching clearly is not the answer. The building is old, unattractive, and in all probability, not worth the cost of renovations and repairs. Is that the Chamber's fault? Can past boards, or the present one, be blamed for the state of the office? The fact is that the Chamber has never had money to spare for rebuilding its offices. Its primary responsibility has been to promote the county as a tourist destination. And in that task, it has been slapped in the face more than once, most recently by Anson, Hindon and Minden, and Lutterworth, the very township whose reeve claims to be frustrated as county council's representative on the Chamber. The slap came in the form of the 'Boundary Information Centre' which the two townships have set up (on the wrong side of Highway 35) south of Minden. The centre was conceived as a means of using one of three buildings which Anson, Hindon and Minden constructed on the advice of one of its councillors, and for which there has not otherwise been a legitimate use. In deciding to spend taxpayers' money to put up the centre near the border of the two townships, Lutterworth and Minden councils said, in effect, that the Chamber was not doing a good job of dispensing information about the small number of businesses that lie south of Minden. They said, in effect, that the Chamber is not worth supporting. That is a position which the facts have not born out.

The Chamber isn't the only organization that should be asked to account for its actions.

Letters to the Editor

We don't love children enough

To The Editor:

In answer to Catherine Denholm's question: "Are we society which does not love children?" I would answer, Yes, we are!

The fact that as parents, teachers and sometimes neighbours we spend our lives in our children's best interest does not necessarily mean that we love them. As a society we have lost the understanding of the concept "love". We must re-discover love as in - all love comes from God - and - loving is giving - giving of ourselves. To love is to lovingly accept as is. To love children is never-ending and very worthwhile hard work. It means that we must give them time rather than things, standards rather than unlimited freedom, teach them respect for others rather than selfishness.

It means two parents and the best of parental love and guidance. The best in nutrition within the realm of budget and up to date knowledge. The best in education, i.e. learning how to learn, think, create and cope and how to apply these concepts to everyday life. Isn't all this every child's right?

To love also means sacrifice, commitment and unwavering loyalty, three concepts that are no longer fashionable. They have been replaced by demand, freedom and self serving affiliation to person or group.

When children enter kindergarten it is the beginning of 13 years of handouts and pressure to perform in a manner that brings credits. When they arrive in high school the pattern is firmly established. If a subject is difficult, drop it. Failure must be avoided at all cost, bad language is tolerated and stealing is part of everyday life. Where else in the world does a 16 year old think it is his/her God given right to own or have the use of a car and the money to run it? As a society we tolerate all this, although individually many complain.

As a society we do not love our children, we exploit them. One needs only to look at TV advertising to see babies, children of all ages and adult-looking pre-teens used for the purpose of sales and profits. Young adults, it seems, can only achieve happiness by having lean, tanned bodies constantly purged by gallons (litres) of cool, cool beer. They seem to frolic in the froth 24 hours a day.

The music industry competes vigorously for the hard earned dollars of teenagers. Their environment is blocked out by more and louder sound all the time, not to mention the lyrics.

One reason young people turn against society is because they subconsciously know they are unloved and exploited and this makes them feel like "nobodies". When young people are bored, and they do not have any life skills or responsibilities they turn to unacceptable behaviour.

Yes, it is fear that turns young people to violence, but not the fear of nuclear war. It is the fear of loneliness, the fear of not belonging, the fear of being unworthy of love.

I urge all church members to include teenagers in their outreach. By this I do not mean give them a drop-in centre or ask them to help set up a bazaar. Tell them they are a vibrant component of our lives and invite them to be part of church services. Teach them the skills to take responsibility in the church so that they have an opportunity to serve God with their skills. Teach them to pray. It is our mandate to sow positive seeds where ever we go. As a society we cannot afford to let young lives be wasted. If we all pray about this everyone of us will find a way to help.

Then, perhaps, in 10 years time we will be able to write about our low crime rate. And other countries will send their educators here to study how we have managed to do this.

Feir Play

Creighton Feir

The Ontario Government, Humber College and the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts, sponsors of the Ontario Bicentennial Celebration - a travelling roadshow of singing and dancing depicting Ontario regions which played Haliburton last Tuesday and Wednesday, are to be congratulated for bringing such top notch entertainment to the area. The theatre students from Humber College in Toronto were outstanding, putting on seven professional type singing and dancing shows over the two days that they appeared here. Large crowds for each performance were on hand in front of the large stage that had been set up at Head Lake Park in Haliburton. The lake in the background proved to be a lovely setting for these performances. The biggest crowd of well over 500 people turned out for the final performance on Wednesday evening at 9 p.m. The dancers and singers who kept the crowd interested for the 35 minute shows were backed by a six piece band from the college and these top flight musicians added a great deal to the stage performances. It was the opinion of a great many people that this was one of the best attractions that has been brought into the community for quite some time. The enthusiastic remarks heard following each show was proof that this show was a great success.

There is certainly plenty of things to do and see this week here in the Highlands of Haliburton. The Minden Rotary Summer Carnival is on tonight and tomorrow night (Wednesday and Thursday). The 13th annual Heineken Road Race is scheduled for this Friday, July 27 at Minden.

I am sorry to have to report that my uncle Cyril Feir is at present a patient at the Red Cross Hospital at Haliburton. His many friends wish him a speed recovery.

This Friday, July 27, the Heineken Yard road race, held annually since 1972, returns to Minden, as part of that community's 125th anniversary celebrations. This renowned country foot race, the last event of the Minden Rotary Carnival, attracts over 400 runners from all over southern Ontario and its cottage country. The race starts at 4:30 p.m. sharp from Onondaga Camp gate and proceeds for 4.5 miles (7.2 km) over rolling country roads to the finish at the Rockcliffe Hotel in Minden.

The Haliburton Lions Club will be holding their first canoe race this coming Sunday, July 29 from Ingoldsby to Haliburton. Trophies will be awarded for the fastest time, oldest canoeist and the youngest canoeist. Registration will be at Ingoldsby starting at 11 a.m. Registration fee is $5 per canoe. It should be a lot of fun for the spectators and even more fun for the participants.

The boys at Halco Audio Visual on the main street in Haliburton were telling me one day last week a person walked into their store, picked up a Walkie Talkie and apparently, without paying for it, walked out the door, only to be met by Steve Woodward and Kevin Titus who have a cottage at Wilberforce. They brought the person into the store and the police were then notified. These two gentlemen are to be commended for their action in helping to stop shoplifting in the community.

I was talking to Roy Neville the other day and he was telling me that he had been out fishing all day and came home a little depressed with the thought that he hadn't had a bite in all that time. During the conversation he suggested that possibly the fishing isn't as good as it used to be and that in his opinion the acid rain situation is taking its toll on the fish. The question is will there be any fish left here in another 20 years?

Bruce Mills, a former resident from Haliburton, was in the office the other day and he told me that he and his wife enjoy living in Lindsay but that they still miss the Highlands of Haliburton. They are hoping to spend the summer months here now as they just recently purchased a cottage on Miskwabi.

Mr. and Mrs. James Doney of Windsor, Ontario are at present visiting with Harvey Fearrey at Haliburton. Mr. Doney, who is 84 years of age, delivered wood for the old Standard Chemical at Donald, Ontario and this is the first time that he has been back to Haliburton since 1929. Doney's Bay at the head of Koshlong Lake was named after James Doney.

Question

By CATHERINE DENHOLM

How will women vote in September?

This summer we will hear many promises from every candidate on what are called women's issues. I can hear every one of them. Conservative, Liberal and NDP, saying that she or he will support equal pay, affirmative action, better day care, better pensions for elderly women in poverty, ways to get rid of pornography and so on... Why the emphasis now? What has happened since the last election to make the difference? After all most of the great strides in the women's movement were taken in the 60's and 70's yet it has taken until 1984 for the ideas to become politically important.

In that interval, since the last election, things began to happen. More women entered the labour force. They, along with the women at home, became more outspoken on matters affecting children, community and the future of the world. Women marched to show their disapproval of nuclear weapons. Women marched to show their anger at the rape and violence and murder and pornography in this society. The political parties listened, watched, began to talk but action was slow. Then a couple of ill-timed events took place in Ottawa which made the male-dominated legislature think about women's votes.

One event occurred during the long struggle to have equality for women and native people written into the Constitution. The Canadian Advisory Council on the Status of Women called for a conference of women to come to Ottawa and help with the problem. As you will remember the government tried to delay that conference. Women were angry. As a result thousands more women came - a much larger meeting than had been planned originally. A group remained to keep pressure on the government for that equality and they were successful.

Trying to cancel the conference brought women together in such strength that they had to be dealt with.

The second incident was the laughter of the men - both Conservative and Liberal - in the Legislature when a study of battered women was tabled showing that many women are beaten by their husbands, beating wives has evidently been the basis of male jokes. The laughter stopped instantly when they realized how this would look in the press and when Judy Erola reminded them sharply that it was no laughing matter.

That laughter did get extensive publicity. Women again deluged Ottawa - this time with letters and phone calls. At last Members of Parliament knew that women were going to watch them closely. This time round there had to be a different tune.

Will there be a different result? Or will we hear a lot about these issues, which are of interest to everyone, during the campaign and not much afterwards?

Trees make great pollution fighters

At one time, pollution problems were basically local. Now, they increasingly spill across regional and national boundaries, following air and watersheds, posing a political and technical challenge which leaves many individual citizens feeling helpless.

But the goal of cleaning air and water can and must be tackled on more than one level at a time. While we call for political action to clamp down on nasty emissions, we can also lighten the toxic load by lending support, even our own muscle power, to less dramatic, but still effective measures such as planting more vegetation in our urban communities. More than half our total air pollution is found in urban areas where the vast majority of Canadians now live.

Plants remove airborne pollutants such as ozone, hydrocarbons and sulphur dioxide, primarily through tiny pores called stomates in the underside of their leaves. Those open and close with the expansion and contraction of guard cells are having to walk around that cursed fence with their arms loaded down with heavy parcels. It's the customers. The consumers. The people who keep them in business. One should remember that the modern consumer has a rather powerful voice. In this case, I think their response is correct.

The moral of the story is "Don't bite the hand that feeds you."

To The Editor:

I would like to voice my support for the ideas expressed in David Leader's letter to the editor in your paper on July 18.

As Mr. Leader says, the issue of peace -- or war -- is certainly the issue which overshadows all others at this time in our history. We should be discussing the means to work towards the peaceful solution of international disputes. We should be discussing these things now at election time, and we should continue to discuss them after the election when the next government is formed.

We know -- because the scientists have told us -- that a nuclear war would be disastrous for the whole world, not just for those countries which actually pull the trigger. Canada, and Canadians, could not escape the effects of a nuclear conflict, no matter where it might erupt. Like it or not, we are involved with what happens anywhere in the world -- in India or China or Afghanistan or the Persian Gulf.

So let us tell our political leaders that we are prepared for them to lead us into this new world where national borders have less and less meaning. In this "new world" there is a need for further development of the ideas of international law which could, if given a chance, help to solve disputes between nations. We must build on ideas like the Law of the Sea, and encourage the next administration in the United States to take a more positive attitude in this proposal. We must use our influence with other middle powers to build a world order which will lessen the dangers of conflict between nations. Canadian efforts in the field of international development can contribute to a better future in third world countries!

Right now is the time -- the period just before an election -- when we should make our views known to those who seek election to the House of Commons. By doing this we can help to shape the direction in which the government will lead us for the next few years.

David Leader is right to challenge us to accept our responsibility as citizens concerned about the future of our country and our planet.

Yours truly,
Patrick Daniel

To The Editor:

Our family trips to Haliburton village are fun and eventful. Until yesterday, I have had only positive experiences with any persons I have dealt with in town.

My friend purchased four large ice cream at Danny's Snack Bar take out for our children. This is a treat looked forward to on our trips to town. On this particular occasion we asked for one glass of water for the children to share. We were told no. I asked to purchase a container of water. The answer again was "No! I don't have the time and getting children drinks of water is too much trouble!"

I have decided that going to Danny's Snack Bar take out is too much trouble. This establishment is not representative of the goodwill of Haliburton.

Yours very truly,

To The Editor:

I hope a lot of your readers consider the viewpoint expressed in your letters column last week by David Leader of Burnt River. People tend to think that war and peace are issues beyond their ability to affect, but that's not true.

A federal election is the most opportune time to remind potential MPs that there is no more important issue than prevention of nuclear war by negotiation, arms reduction or whatever other means you can think of.

Canada is in the fortunate position of being respected as a reasonably neutral peacemaker by governments and politicians around the world. Let's make sure the candidates know we're concerned, and expect some action if they get elected.

Another point Mr. Leader made was the contradiction of billions spent on armaments while people are starving. Priorities must be turned around so protection of life gets more emphasis than the taking of it.

The jobs issue is still important, and some will argue that armament manufacture and sale provides employment. However, Frank Miller, Ontario's Minister of Trade told a group of us recently that one of our most successful exporters was selling wheelbarrows in Europe. You could sell a lot of garden tools to developing countries for the price of grenade launchers or fighters. Exports, whether of raw materials or manufactured goods, is the one bright spot in our lack lustre economy, and some salesmanship could sell a lot more.

I don't know about the rest of you, but I'd be proud to see Canada with a reputation for high quality agricultural and appropriate technology equipment, rather than sales of arms.

To The Editor:

This is a letter of thanks and appreciation to our local ministers and their wives. We seldom think of the positive impact they have on our community, but I'm sure we must admit we are all better off because of their efforts. If we were to record every time they encouraged us along our sometimes difficult way, I'm sure we could fill volumes.

Thank you men, and thank you wives. Someday you will receive your true praise.

Queen's Park Report

Social services in the area of health care and child welfare were at the forefront at Queen's Park in the last week.

Opposition Leader David Peterson issued a statement calling on Premier Davis to end the practice of extra billing in Ontario which is costing the province $4.4 million a month in forfeited transfer payments from Ottawa under the Canada Health Act.

Peterson said the policy of the Davis government is at odds with that of the federal Tory party, which supported passage of the Canada Health Act in the Commons last April. A principle reason for the Act was to end extra-billing across Canada, but the Davis government has been balking.

Meanwhile a child wrapped in red tape and a social worker wearing a straight-jacket appeared before the Ontario Legislative Committee on Social Development to demonstrate the problems posed by Bill 77 (Child and Family Services).

Douglas Barr, Executive Director of the Metro Toronto Children's Aid Society, said social workers and children throughout the province are suffering the consequences of the ill-founded change in the Child Welfare Act which gives "total, complete, final, absolute control over the societies" to the government.

Proposed changes in the Bill to introduce legal review procedures could clog the courts and create harmful delays in providing care for children, according to Barr.

In another development, Ontario Labour Minister

Muskoka defeats Dixie Lee

By JIM MILNE

Dixie Lee lost a close game to the Muskoka Sun 1-0 in Bracebridge last Sunday. The Haliburton defence, led by Andy Shapera, was very steady and the first half was scoreless. Terry Crowe playing in the midfield worked very hard and had the best chance for Dixie Lee.

In the second half Shaun Chapman also had a number of chances. The Sun scored the only goal with about five minutes remaining in the game from a scramble. The Dixie Lee defender couldn't clear the ball and it trickled into the net.

Six games remain

This season Dixie Lee have played 10 games and won two. In the six remaining games they have a good chance of winning three. Next Sunday they play Bracebridge Centennials at home in Minden. They have one win and two losses against Centennials.

The team will practise in Minden on Thursday at 7:00 p.m. Anyone is welcome to join the squad for a scrimmage. The team will continue to practise the short passing game.

Eight teams meet in softball tournament

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

A total of eight teams competed last weekend in the Haliburton County Ladies' Softball Tournament. West Guilford placed first in a field which included teams from Haliburton, Ops, Bancroft, Cameron, Minden, Little Britain and Norland.

Action in the first round began Friday night with the Minden Seniors taking on the Haliburton Juniors in Haliburton. Minden, led by Barb Winn and Lori Brown Wood, defeated Haliburton 13-9. Although Haliburton got off to a quick start, scoring six runs in the first three innings, the Minden team staged an impressive comeback in the sixth inning, bringing in six runs.

Pitching for the Seniors were Nelda Cully and Anne Hewson. Outstanding players for Haliburton were Miriam Smith and Marla MacNaull.

In action on Saturday, Cameron doubled Norland 8 to 4. The team from Norland managed to limit Cameron to one or two runs each inning, but were unable to bring their own players across the plate after the third inning.

In the second match of the day, West Guilford also doubled Little Britain 8 to 4. West Guilford got off to a quick start in this game, scoring two runs in both the first and second innings. Little Britain reduced their lead with a run in the bottom of the second, but Guilford brought in one player in the third and fourth innings to take a 6-1 lead.

Little Britain staged a strong drive in the fifth inning, scoring three runs, but were limited to four runs by the West Guilford team.

Bancroft Red and White met the team from Ops in the third game of the day. Strong hitting and pitching gave the Bancroft team an 11-3 win. Bancroft got on the scoreboard early in the first inning, driving in two runners and adding an additional point in the second. Ops brought in single runs in the bottom of the second, third and fourth innings, to tie the game up at three all. The Bancroft team took off in the top of the fourth, however, driving in five runs to gain a commanding lead. Despite a strong effort, Ops was unable to gain the momentum needed to close the gap.

Second round

The Haliburton Juniors took on Norland in the first game of the second round. The Juniors took a commanding lead early in the game and defeated Norland 9-1. Melissa Creelman and Miriam Smith led the Haliburton team in the game which eliminated Norland from the tournament.

Cameron blanks Minden 9-0

In the second game of this round, Cameron's pitcher came up with a no hitter to defeat Minden 9-0. Cameron took the lead with two runs in the second and went on to widen the gap in the third and fourth innings.

Little Britain eliminated Ops from the tournament in the following game, as they defeated Ops 9-1. Although Ops opened the scoring in the first inning, they were unable to bring in any additional runs. Betty Jenkins, first baseman for Little Britain, was named most valuable player of the game.

In the fourth game of the second round, West Guilford took on Bancroft Red and White. West Guilford scored early with three runs in the bottom of the first. Bancroft brought in one run in the third. In the sixth inning, however, the team from West Guilford took off, scoring six runs to make the final score 9-1.

In the final game of the day, Little Britain took on Minden in what proved to be the closest game of the day. Hitting was strong on both teams, but Minden managed to edge past the team from Little Britain with a final score of 6-5. The defeat eliminated Little Britain from the action.

Final round action

On Sunday, the action began with a game between Haliburton and Bancroft. Haliburton gained an early 5-0 lead with two runs in the second and another three in the fourth inning. Although Bancroft got off to a slow start they staged a strong rally in the last three innings, bringing in a total of eight runs to defeat Haliburton by a final score of 8-6. The loss knocked Haliburton out of the action.

In the second game of the day, West Guilford met Cameron in a fairly one sided game. Both teams got off to a slow start, but the Guilford team managed to come up with some runs in the final innings of the game to defeat Cameron 7-1.

Minden eliminated Bancroft in the following game, defeating them in a close contest. Bancroft took an early lead in the second inning, but

Minden began to show their strength in the bottom of the fourth, bringing in four runs and going on to defeat Bancroft 9-8.

Following this win, Minden advanced to the semi-final match where the team took on Cameron. The scoring opened when Cameron notched three runs in the top of the first inning. Although Minden managed to shorten this lead by bringing in a single run in the bottom of the first, they were unable to overcome Cameron's early advantage. Cameron went on to the final game, defeating Minden 6-4.

Championship game

Cameron and West Guilford met in the final game of the tournament. Cameron managed to gain an impressive eight run lead, bringing in a single run in the first and fourth and scoring six runs in the top of the third inning. Despite this wide margin, the West Guilford batters began to connect in the bottom of the fourth inning, driving in four runs to make the score 8-4. In the bottom of the sixth, West Guilford continued their comeback, racking up five more runs and going on to defeat Cameron and win the tournament with a final score of 9-8.

West Guilford's first baseman is set for a play in a game against Bancroft on Saturday. The hot weather left players exhausted, but was a treat for fans.

Bull, cow tags issued

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources has mailed out 44,000 bull and cow tags under its 1984 moose selective kill.

"We had a set a limit of 45,900 tags to maintain the program's conservation targets this year. In some Wildlife Management Units, there were fewer applications than tags available, and thus some tags were not distributed," Natural Resources Minister Alan Pope said.

In 1982 there were 86,000 hunters licensed to take the moose of their choice. In 1983, 50,000 hunters received tags to hunt either a bull or cow moose. With the 44,000 tags issued this year, the ministry hopes to reduce the number of moose killed.

Under the scheme, moose hunters who do not receive a bull or cow tag may kill a calf.

Pope said the draw was much smoother this year. Some hunters, however, did receive both a valid tag and a notice that they were unsuccessful in the draw. Hunters who received a tag and such a notice should simply disregard the notice.

About two-thirds of all hunters who applied received a tag in this year's draw.

Hard hits, high scores mark week's action

It was a pitchers' nightmare and a hitters' dream last Thursday night in the Haliburton men's fastball league. A total of 31 runs were scored, 13 of them by Curry Motors, including a second inning grand slam by Wade Stamp. The motormen completely dominated Beachli Construction, who could manage only a single run through five innings.

In the night's second game (no games were played Tuesday because of the Legion carnival), Haliburton Lumber chalked up 10 runs to defeat the Kinsmen, who managed a respectable seven runs and held the lead until the fourth inning.

Curry Motors vs. Beachli Construction

Curry Motors got off to a quick start in the opening game, as lead off hitter Barry Shaw connected for a triple, then scored on Ron Linklater's sacrifice fly to left field.

The builders went three up, three down in the bottom of the first, a portent of the way things would go for them throughout the game.

The top of the second was the decisive inning for Curry Motors, who put the game out of reach with a six run flurry.

Earl Bull led off with a single, then stole a base and was driven home on a double by Neilson Sisson. Bob Penfold followed up with a single that brought Sisson across.

With one out, Mike Fearrey walked to first, and Barry Boice also was walked. Beachli Construction buckled down and got the second out with the bases loaded but they were unable to contain Wade Stamp, who hammered out a grand slam home run to cap a six run inning for the motormen.

The builders rallied in the bottom of the second, but they were no match for Curry Motors on this night at least. John Robinson got to first on an error at third base, then stole a base to set up a run on Peter Fearrey's single. But it was the only run the builders could put together.

In the top of the fourth Curry Motors added two more when Kevin Sisson singled, Earl Bull was walked and Bob Penfold connected for a two RBI single.

The top of the fifth saw the motormen add four more runs. Ron Linklater doubled with two out, and came home on Wade Stamp's follow up double. A single from Kevin Sisson brought Stamp across. Sisson also scored, as did Earl Bull who was walked to first, then completed the circuit.

The game was called at the end of the fifth, leaving the final score 13-1 in favour of Curry Motors.

Lumbermen 10, Kinsmen 7
Haliburton Kinsmen took the early lead in the night's second game but they were unable to contain Haliburton Lumber in a six run fourth inning that made the difference in the outcome.

Brian Mulholland led off with a single for the Kinsmen, and scored on a single by Vince Duchene and a series of errors. Barry Shaw also singled, then John Wilson was walked to load the bases.

Roy Scott sacrificed to second base, allowing Shaw to score. Lyle Sawyer also sacrificed, bringing Wilson across for a four run inning.

Haliburton Lumber responded with two in the bottom half of the first, as Dave Nicholls doubled and Bernie Nicholls banged a two run homer.

Neither team got anything going in the second inning. In the top of the third however, Roy Scott singled, Lyle Sawyer was walked and Carl Anderson doubled to score Scott and Sawyer.

The Lumbermen answered with one run in the bottom half, Bernie Nicholls scoring on a single by Bernie Upton.

The Kinsmen were stymied in the top of the fourth, but still held onto a 6-3 lead.

In the bottom of the inning, however, the Lumbermen all but put the game out of reach with a six run flurry. Phil Smith, Rod Sisson and Dan Mawby each singled, then Tran Larue doubled to score two runs.

Dave Nicholls followed up with a two run homer. Bernie Nicholls was hit by a pitch and got a free trip to first, then Dwight Sisson doubled to drive in another run. Sisson was left stranded by the third out but the Lumbermen were ahead 9-6.

The Kinsmen added on more in the top of the fifth when Carl Anderson scored on Brian Mulholland's sacrifice fly to centre field.

Haliburton Lumber made it 10-7 in the bottom of the sixth as Bernie Nicholls scored on a single from Dwight Sisson to round out the game.

Heineken Yard set

The Heineken Yard road race returns to Minden this Friday, July 27. Since 1972, this renowned country footrace has grown to become the premier fixture on the province's summer road race schedule and now attracts some 400 runners from all over southern Ontario and U.S.A. border communities.

The race begins at Onondaga Camp Gate, at 4:30 p.m. sharp and ends in Minden with a sprint past the crowds along the main street to the finish at the Rockcliffe Hotel.

The rolling terrain challenges competitors of all abilities with an ideal summer route. Recreational joggers can tackle the 7.2 km (4.5 mile) course in no more than 45 minutes with little strain. However, it is the elite racers who make the 'Yard' worth running.

Last year, Greg Lockhart, rated among Canada's top 10 road runners, sped to a record finish with a blistering 21 minute, 58 second time. That's a 4.9 minute per mile pace - a sprint from start to finish. Sue French of the Brooks racing team smashed the women's record with a time of 25:23. Next week, she hopes to do the same thing for Canada at the Olympics in Los Angeles.

Over 70 OTFA sanctioned running clubs have been invited to attend the 1984 Heineken Yard. The Brooks Racing Team will set the pace again this year, and with racers like John and Paul Craig

Northern Lights

By VIRGINIA MUENZEL

Summertime...and the living is easy. The guy who wrote that song was never a local citizen of Haliburton. Otherwise, he'd know that the living is anything but easy when the sun comes out, and all the tourists, teachers, students, and camp kids come pouring into town. All winter long, we try to busy ourselves with crafts, and snow sports, and stretching dollars. Heading into March, the whole community is anxiously looking forward to spring, when they can escape the throes of cabin fever, and prepare for summer. As soon as the weather permits, lodge owners plunge into cottage cleaning. The college is engrossed with lining up teachers for summer classes. And, of course, the gardeners are tuning up their tillers. Now, here it is almost the end of July. Toronto, Alberta, Florida, and New York, to name a few, have all sent representatives to enhance our population. Every Friday, and Sunday evenings, the cottagers go zoom, zoom, zooming by, pulling boats, trailers, wind-surfers, summer furniture, and other assorted paraphernalia necessary for their weekend retreats. Lodge employees are busily cooking up tasty meals and cleaning up between vacationers. Shops are, hopefully, doing a booming trade. Laundromats are bursting at the seams with camp kids, who always seem to be trying for a Guinness Book record in laundry loads. And boaters and swimmers have driven the fish to their secret places, much to the chagrin of the avid fishermen. Then there's the gardeners. Everybody has a garden. The main topic of conversation in July is "We had our first batch of peas today." "Yea, well, I've been freezing peas for two weeks now." or "Do you think all of this rain will rot the potatoes?" "I don't know, but my zucchini is turning brown." and "I've still got 27 packages of frozen beans from last year, and it looks like another bumper crop." "Well, you never know when there might be a drought, then we'll be glad to have 'em."

Gardeners seem to brag as much about their woes as their gains. "My radishes are full of worms." "That's nothing, the grubs have chewed all the roots on my cauliflower." "Well, if you want grief, the stupid woodchucks ate all my broccoli the night before I was going to pick it." Anyway, town is buzzing. Everyone's rushing here and there, to carnivals, races, art shows, and parades. And then some pessimist comes along and says, "Boy, it's the end of July already. Summer's half over. Pretty soon it will be snowing again."

Merv Herron and Eileen Morrison were two of the volunteers who took part in a quilting bee last week at the Haliburton Highlands Museum. Also participating in the demonstration were Ruth Parks, Shirley Hodgson and Florence Webb. The bee was presented as part of the museum's Bicentennial celebration.

Did you know

By JIM WILKINSON Did you know...I was invited a couple of years ago to be a volunteer in the Haliburton County Information Centre? To me it has been a very worthwhile experience as I have learned so much about the County and the services available to the community. It is so essential in an area of small communities to be able to help our people to find answers to questions. In our office we have access to almost any information you need and if not we'll soon get it. We have brochures on many types of government - local, provincial and federal programmes including housing, home repairs, welfare, child care, health, small businesses, etc., and can provide information on anything from Ontario Property Tax Grants to the schedule of events relating to the White Water Championships held each year in Minden. I have visited over a dozen Information Centres in Canada. Please turn to Page 10

By BERT HARRISON

Well readers, we are starting another week here at Hyland Crest. I don't think we had too many guests. We are sure there weren't very many, speaking for myself, I didn't have any. In the chapel service Sunday night, Rev. Burgess took his interesting message from Romans Chapter 1, verse 16. Jessy Walters, to the hospital took a little trip. Now she will be returning with a new plastic hip. Mary Oliver who is really quite spry, has gone to get a cataract taken from her eye. Rev. Douglas Miller was the United Church minister here for some six years. He returned again on Sunday and the services did take, at Carnarvon, Minden and Maple Lake. Dorothy McElwain on her homeward way, had a bad accident. She can thank her maker that she is alive today. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Foster (Gary works here by the way) have a darling daughter, born the 18th of July day. Our ladies working in the craft room are busy. They have just taken another quilt off the quilting frames. The Ray Ushers came Monday night instead of Friday. They couldn't come Friday, they were going away. Ray is a great piano player, and entertains us fine. It's so nice of them to come and give us some of their time. Tuesday morning Rev. J. Smith of Haliburton Baptist Church conducted a really impressive service in the chapel this July day. Marion Rose came again with the music to play. Doris showed us three interesting movies this Tuesday, "Steady as she Goes", "Grain Elevators", and "The Story of the St. Lawrence Seaway". Tuesday night we were royally entertained by members of St. Paul's Anglican Church choir. Some sang low, others a little higher. The music was played on her guitar by Debbie Vaughan. The way she played and they sang for us was just out of this world. Alton Hughes and his wife from Lindsay came to call Sunday on his sister, Edna Cowen, who lives here by the way. Doris took us in the bus Wednesday night to see the Haliburton Carnival parade, which was a colourful sight. With so many marching bands, we residents enjoyed it very much; it was really grand. Helene Donaldson came along with her sister, Margaret too, to see that nothing we might try to do, like to get up, would cause us to slip and maybe break a leg or fracture a brittle hip. Linda is on two weeks holiday. Doris is a busy gal while Linda is away. She sure knows how to handle that Hyland bus. No matter what happens you don't hear her cuss. Amelia Good is all smiles today, I will tell you why. She Please turn to page 20

Masks' roots in imagination and ancient customs

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

For Rae Anderson, mask making is not only the continuation of an ancient tradition, it is a way to bring new characters to life.

"Masks have a very rich history," says Anderson. "Every culture has some ritual with masks." In primitive societies, masks were often used to drive out sickness or to help the community. "In North America today we have Halloween and masquerade parties," she says.

A few moments with Anderson as she conducts a class in leather mask making at Haliburton's School of Fine Arts and it becomes evident, however, that her interest in masks is not merely an archeological one. Anderson stresses that the masks she creates out of leather, tin foil, paper mache or out of simple "found objects" must be functional. "My first works were decorative wall hangings, but I felt something was missing. A mask has to be worn," she says. "I like to work with wearable things. It's fun to see them come alive."

It is this desire to bring life to her art that has caused Anderson to be so fond of leather as a material for her creations. "It's skin. It has a lovely texture," she explains, adding that there is "something spooky" about using "skin as skin."

As well as making her masks appear more life-like, leather was a natural choice for Anderson, because of her background. "I grew up with the smell of leather in the house," she says, explaining that her mother made purses and belts from leather. Although Anderson says her work is not as traditional as her mother's, she says she has learned about handling leather from her mother.

At work on a plaster form, Anderson explains the technique she has developed to create her leather faces. Students begin work on their masks, making casts of each other's faces using plaster of paris bandages. These bandages, which are the same as those used to make casts for broken bones, are allowed to harden and are then removed from the face which is protected by a thick layer of lotion. Plaster is then poured into this shell and a mould is produced. Anderson points out that the biggest advantage to this method is that the end product is an exact replica of the student's face, a fact that ensures the mask will fit.

To create the shape that the mask will take, plasticine is used to alter the cast of the face. Thick brows, a large nose or a ghoulish grin can be built up and are then cast, using the same bandage technique as before. This second shell is then filled with very thin, wet sheepskin, which is pushed into the mould and baked dry. Although the leather is quite pliable when wet, it becomes very stiff and when it dries easily retains its new shape.

Anderson says she has worked specifically on these leather masks for about a year. Although the methods are her own, she also gained some advice recently when she attended a leather workshop in Tennessee. "There aren't many people doing what I do," she says. Anderson adds though that an increasing number of people are making masks. "There's been a surge of interest in the last few years, especially in Toronto. I've introduced quite a few people to leather," she says.

In an effort to bring her work to life, Anderson has also studied mime. She is now able to alter her mannerisms and her movements to suit her many faces. During her classes at the School of Fine Arts, she also encourages her students to do the same. Donning a red, wrinkled mask, Anderson recreates her first introduction to her students. "I said I was looking for a class," she explains. "Last night I picked up my husband at the bus wearing this same mask," she adds. "There's nothing more magical than seeing someone change before your eyes."

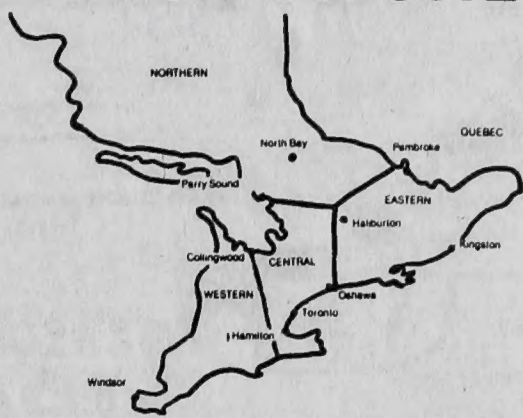

Although Anderson has only made leather masks since last year, she has been interested in mask making since she graduated from university five years ago. "I just started making things with my hands and they turned out to be masks," she remembers.

As well as making masks, Anderson's interests have also extended to include puppet making and building scarecrows. With the help of an Exploration Grant from the Canada Council, she spent a year studying scarecrows, which she notes have become quite rare, and building some of her own on her farm in Maple, Ontario. Anderson describes her own work as effigies in fields rather than traditional scarecrows. "I don't see my work with them as separate from my masks," she explains. "They are just a mask extended to the whole body."

Despite the growing number of people interested in creating masks, Anderson says she must

Red Cross Homemakers have an important job

By ELIZABETH CHURCH
Staff Reporter

Red Cross Homemakers have served the county of Haliburton for over seven years, but it was not until last winter that the area received a local headquarters and a supervisor of its own. Working out of the county library building in Haliburton, Ruby Way co-ordinates the schedules of 16 workers who visit those suffering from acute or chronic illnesses and help to look after their day to day needs.

"It's a unique type of job," says Way. "It takes a special person to go into someone's home and adjust to so many different environments. Homemakers must have a desire to help others," she notes. "Without that the job would be just impossible."

An average of 240
hours of care
is given each week

At present, the Haliburton workers visit approximately 40 homes and spend an average of 240 hours in total with patients each week. "The hours are variable," says Way. The time spent in each home is decided separately on the basis of need. In most cases, visits last from three to four hours and are made two or three times a week, but in special circumstances, visits may be made as often as every day or as seldom as once a week. Patients are referred to the homemaker program by their doctor, who must first contact the local Home Care Co-ordinator.

The establishment of a local office is a big step forward for the community, according to Way. Although the Haliburton branch is still associated with the Lindsay Homemakers program, the new Haliburton supervisor can devote more time to the needs and management of this region. Haliburton County has the highest percentage of elderly in all of Ontario, a fact which Way says makes the Homemaker program even more important. "Many of our patients are over 80," she says, adding, "It's amazing how many people we visit are over 90." Despite the recent progress of the program, Way says there is still a shortage of homemakers, especially in the Haliburton area. "We could really use additional help," she notes. After completing 120 hours of service, homemakers are given a special two month course sponsored by the Red Cross. The course, conducted from the Lindsay office of the Red Cross, is designed to further train and prepare new homemakers for the variety of situations they will face in patients' homes.

To summarize the work done by Red Cross Homemakers, Way gave the following description:

"Homemakers are not cleaning ladies, but do light housekeeping. They are not nurses, but do a considerable amount of personal care. They are not psychologists, although they listen to people's problems. They are not cooks, but they prepare foods for basic and special diets. They are not errand girls, but they shop, do banking and pick up prescriptions. They are not beauticians, but wash and set clients' hair. They are not physiotherapists, but they oversee exercises and walks. In other words, they do not do heavy cleaning, like scrubbing floors on hands and knees, washing walls or windows, "spring" cleaning nor accumulated laundry. Nor is the Homemaker allowed to give medication, change dressings or cut toe nails."

Gloria Bird, Sharron Robinson, Beulah Stribling and Judy Carpenter graduated June 29 from the Basic Training Course for Visiting Homemakers. It was a 120 hour course provided by Sir Sandford Fleming College in Lindsay. Some of the main topics of the

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

These Gooderham area youngsters took part in a week long fitness program at the community centre under the leadership of deputy reeve Jane Franklin.

For more details on the program, see the Gooderham News column at right.

Dorset News

By PHYLLIS BRISCOE
"We would really be in big trouble if housewives were as stupid as TV and radio commercials make them out to be."

The annual arts and crafts sale was held on Saturday, July 21 at the Dorset Community Centre from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Numerous artisans in many fields and various forms of artistry demonstrated their skill and in most cases had some of their work for sale. There were oil, water colours, and pastels, hand crafted pottery, stained glass, rock lamp shades, etching, knitted lace doilies, bird carving, pallet knife painting and many other demonstrations of interest. A collection was taken at the door with proceeds going to the Dorset building fund for a new community centre. What a pleasant and interesting way to spend a few hours, browsing among the works of art, chatting with the artists and seeing how much talent there is in our small community.

Due to a lot of hard work beforehand by the ladies and the co-operation of one of our local merchants, plus the presence of a great many purchasers the Anglican ladies' bake sale was a huge success. Thanks to one and all, especially the management and staff of Clayton's General Store.

We have a proud and happy young fisherman in our midst. Nine year old Michael Vadian, whose parents have a cottage up on the bay, landed an 11 lb. 3 oz. lake trout last week while fishing in Lake of Bays near Dorset. We congratulate the young man on his catch. Michael is the great grandson of Mrs. Walt Tyson.

The widely travelled John McEman, Jr. has returned home after spending the past year travelling in Europe, Asia and Africa. He certainly has seen a large area of the globe and must have some exciting tales to tell. Maybe we will be able to get him to share some with us.

The sunsets have been outstandingly beautiful. If an artist were to paint some of them they would be unbelievable. They have to be seen live to be appreciated. One never tires of watching the changing skyline. The colours change from silver to orange, red and gold and streak through each other to make fantastic shapes. It is a fleeting scene but exquisite while it lasts.

We have a new baby girl in the family. On Thursday, July 12 Steve and Kim Tebb of Huntsville became the proud parents of Leslie Dale, weighing seven pounds, 13 ounces. She is a sister for Merrin. All are doing well and have our congratulations.

H.H. Your "Bounce" sheets have several uses besides putting them in the dryer. After being used they are excellent for washing windows or wiping up spills. Before being used they counteract odours if your pet has had an accident on the rug. After cleaning, slip a sheet under the rug and it will absorb all odours.

Gooderham News

By MARY HADLEY

Our ladies' softball team, the Gooderham North Stars, can be congratulated. In their eight games played so far this season, they have lost none. That is a record. They have only three more home games before the playoffs start. On July 24 they meet Snowdon. On the next Tuesday, July 31, they face Ingoldsby. Finally on August 7 they square off against Galway. Let's come out and give them your vocal support and help them to continue their winning streak.

Heather and Christopher Hanthorn of Fox Creek, Alberta, are visiting their parents, Vivian and Blair Hanthorn, at their Pine Lake cottage. With them is their five month old son, Hansel, who is making his first visit here.

A good number gathered at the Community Centre last Tuesday evening to honour Marg Bates with a baby shower. She received many beautiful and useful gifts for that special someone-to-be. Hostess Shelly Greenwood, served a delicious lunch.

Anne and Merle Pickens of Timmins spent a week with Merle's mother, Mrs. Mac Pickens, her daughter, Vanieta, and other relatives.

On July 19, "The Deckhands" from Kingston entertained a group of children and some parents with two puppet shows. This talented trio, Rosalie MacNeil, Sharon Gryfe and Ian Grant delighted the children with their modern version of "Three Billy Goats Gruff" and "The Paperbag Princess".

The girls opened the show with "I know an old lady who swallowed a fly". Between shows they led in "Old McDonald Had a Farm" and adults as well as children joined in this song.

After the two puppet shows, one of which featured a fascinating dragon of colourful patchwork design instead of the usual drab green, one of the young ladies played the mandolin and sang "Old Hiram's Goat".

The children were an enthusiastic audience.

There will be another puppet show on August 28.

Congratulations to Jean and Army Goff who celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary last Sunday with their children near Toronto. Our best wishes go to them for continued health and happiness in the future.

The Ladies' Quilting Circle of the Pentecostal Church enjoyed a special meeting last Thursday afternoon at the home of Vivian Dovell. A diary was presented to Mary Bacon with the good wishes of the group for a pleasant and safe trip. Mary is leaving for Scotland where she will visit her brother and his family as well as other relatives there. Vivian served a delicious picnic lunch to conclude a day of good fellowship. Next week the club will resume its activities in the newly decorated basement of the church.

Gladys and Leslie Billings, with their two children, of Lanark are holidaying with Leslie's mother, Grace Billings, and other relatives.

We are glad to see Doug Hughes able to return to his home after surgery in the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. We hope for a speedy recuperation.

Elva Bates' three grandchildren, Danny, Chris and Tracey visited her last week while she was on holidays.

The United Church Women held a successful bake sale and bazaar in the church basement last Saturday afternoon. Thank you to those who contributed as well as to those who gave their support.

The week of July 16 to 21 was one of fun and fitness for 36 Gooderham area children. The Bicentennial Youth Sport and Fitness Festival was supervised by Jane Franklin at the Glamorgan Community Centre. The skills of running, throwing, striking, catching and kicking were taught, practised and incorporated into games such as tag, baseball, soccer, etc. Children over eight years old also participated in "Strengthathlon", a series of Canada Fitness exercises, timed each day so the children could see their own improvement during the week. Simpler skills and games were provided for the 6 to 8 year olds.

Many of the children brought their lunches and it was amazing how quickly strangers became friends over a sandwich and a game of floor hockey. The weather co-operated beautifully for most of the week so everyone made full use of the baseball field and the indoor facilities of the Community Centre.

Jane's assistants were her two teenage children, Scott and Marlene, Melanie Dewey and Pat Baron without whose help this program could not have been so successful.

The week-long festival ended on Saturday with an invitation to parents to watch their children's achievements and participate with them in a giant obstacle course which incorporated many of the week's lessons. The participants travelled in pairs - a child with a parent. In one case the child was accompanied by her grandmother. The course was arduous and it was a hot day. We admired the sportsmanship of all.

Afterwards hot dogs, cookies and lemonade were enjoyed by parents, instructors and children alike. Reeve Robert McCausland presented all participants with a certificate, a patch and a button provided by the ministry.

These volunteers are deserving of our thanks for their self-sacrificing efforts in this worthwhile endeavour. We do appreciate their giving up a week of their summer holidays in the interests of the children, and know they must feel rewarded.

By SHEILA LAKE

Two tragic accidents over the weekend surely make one realize the brevity of life. Two area young men died suddenly. James Baker, age 21, of Kirkfield, was killed in the village on Saturday, July 14, and on Sunday, evening, July 15, Brian Lapointe of Head Lake, west of Norland, was killed in a truck accident near Victoria Road. Brian was 22 years old. The community certainly is saddened by this tragedy and our hearts go out to the bereaved families. What can be done or said to perhaps save other young lives in the future? Certainly, we should all obey speed limits, etc., and often the other car causes the accident, but we can only be extra careful.

Winners in Tuesday evening's card games are as follows. Euchre: ladies - Carrie Fletcher, 76; Elizabeth Garring, 72; most lone hands, Rhilda Hunter, 3; consolation, Freda Boyce, 48. Men's - Ernie Garring, 70; Howard Stewart, 67; most lone hands, Margaret Michel, 4; consolation, Jean Montgomery, 42. Bridge: Connie Upton, 4760; Joyce Thompson, 4430; consolation, Trudy Watt, 1270.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kiddey of Maynooth were recent visitors of Mrs. Cora Lake. Mrs. Sadie Newman of Oshawa also called on Mrs. Cora Lake and visited other relatives in the area.

Rev. and Mrs. Les Bunnell and family of North Bay visited with the Ross Faulkner family on Wednesday night. Rev. Bunnell was pastor of Trinity Full Gospel Church here some years ago and is now Chaplain at the hospital at North Bay.

The flower planters planted by the Horticultural Society are all doing well. The Legion paid for the new planters that are being used this year and they are to be thanked for their generosity in helping to beautify our village. The flowers are truly lovely.

Wouldn't it be great if all those who scatter their tin cans, cigarette packages, etc. would take a minute and drop them into the garbage barrels? Two weeks ago, when I had noticed some liquor bottles while going up our hill, I decided to pick them up. I took a large K-Mart bag - it held about three times as much as a regular grocery bag - and I began picking up glass, bottles, paper, etc. I travelled less than the distance of four hydro poles and almost filled the sack! Just how much glass, tin and other garbage do we have thrown out within our town boundary?

Mrs. Vera Weaver and Louise visited Sophie Weaver, Raymond and Dennis in Fenelon Falls one day last week.

Rev. Peter Barbour and family from Aylmer have been visiting his mom and dad, Bob and Stella Barbour, brother Tom, his wife Donna and family and brother Kerry Barbour at Wilberforce. They are camping in the area on their summer vacation.

Mrs. Frances Nesbitt accompanied her son, Ron Nesbitt and his wife Linda and family from St. Thomas and Mrs. Foster of Lindsay, on a trip to visit her son, Bill Nesbitt and his wife Jean and children at Moncton, N.B. They journeyed on to Halifax, Nova Scotia, enjoyed the trip on the Cabot Trail and visited other points of interest in the eastern provinces.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeke Munroe and Mrs. Ada Irwin all of Lindsay were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Faulkner on Monday and celebrated Edith Munroe's 87th birthday. Howard Brohm of Belleville also visited his Aunt Myrtle and Uncle Ross Faulkner and the Murray Brohm family at Norland.

Dr. Bill White and his wife Denna, arrived from Calgary, Alberta on Thursday. Bill and Denna will spend the next month at their home in Fenelon Falls, with visits back and forth with the family here.

Adam and Jean Carl of Sunderland visited Ben and Ethel Farrow this past week.

Ethel Farrow visited Reta McNeil at Haliburton one day last week.

It will soon be the long holiday weekend again. Remember the Legion Smorgasbord dinner starting at 4 p.m. on August 4. This is always a sell out dinner and you need to get there early or be prepared for a long line up. Believe me - this is always a popular dinner out and you won't be disappointed with all the goodies you will see there.

The Red Cross Water Safety programme has been going well. So many young folk taking lessons and the park sure has been a busy place this summer. The young folks surely can't be bored with summer holidays yet because the swim instructors keep them busy.

Sympathy to the Joe Montgomery family at Four Mile Lake (the former Arkwright property) and the Dunbar family of Norland in the death of their loved ones.

The Everette Fountains of Norland were visitors of Charlie and Gladys Routley last week.

The Ron Chynoweths have been on vacation this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Fell of Coldwater were visitors of her parents, Sanford and Fanny Richman for a couple of days last week.

Congratulations to Rev. B.H. Cross of Norland who celebrated his birthday on July 22.

Mrs. George Qua (Teri) is holidaying at her home here, away from the bustle of her home town of Niagara Falls.

Have you been watching gas prices lately? Our discount gas station was higher than the station across the road. These gas stations all do their best to keep prices down but when the big companies say "Raise your price" they have no choice but to obey. But really, prices are getting out of hand.

Mrs. Ada Fisher of Lindsay and Mrs. Claire Brooks of Minden were visitors at our house this past week.

Steve and Kenny Hillyer of Beery's Green visited their Aunt Frances Farrow, Marlene and Dwayne and "Uncle Charlie Abbott" last weekend. Howard and Karen Hall and baby of Scarborough visited Sam and Millie Routley last week.

Happy birthday on July 13 to Mame Campbell who celebrated her day at the home of Millie and Pete Cruickshanks in Toronto, where she received phone calls from her family in Miami, Florida along with many beautiful flowers.

Congratulations to Daryl and Laura Janke upon the birth of their seven pound seven ounce son, Mark Graham Janke on July 10 at Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay.

Galway and Cavendish celebrates Ontario's Bicentennial at the sixth annual summer festival, Saturday, August 11 from 2:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. at Galway Hall.

There will be a moustache/beard contest, bake sale, greased pole climbing, hay rides, trading post, memorabilia, horseshoe pitch, costume contest, log sawing (old and new saws), tall tale contest, Haliburton-Minden Scottish Dancers, and an Ontario Bicentennial Heritage dinner, games and dancing to the music of "Burnt River Country" at

"Ye Olde Saloon". There will be a raffle at 11:00 p.m. Admittance is $4.

Thanks to all who have called asking after my health.

There sure has been lots of wet weather lately and last Friday there was even a hailstorm, not very nice for the holidayers.

Happy birthday to all of you celebrating your day in July and especially John and Betty Lonsdale. Have a lovely day, folks.

Home help volunteers are needed to spend a night with seniors or if you could become a live-in person to a senior - why not give a call to 457-2941 for further details.

Recent visitors at the home of Mary and John Pyke were Florence and Walter Noseworthy of Brampton and Florence's mother, Mrs. Morgan of Toronto; Dorine and Charlie Noel with their children Richard and Jennifer of Tottenham, Robert and Johanna Card with children Sarah and Eric of Jackson's Point.

I'm glad to hear Gordon Campbell is mobile, even though it is by walker.

On July 7, relatives and friends gathered at the Burnt River Community Centre to help "Grandma" Bacon celebrate her 83rd birthday. The afternoon was spent renewing old friendships and talking over old times. At the supper hour about 60 family members sat down to a salad supper prepared by the family. The evening was spent dancing to good "Old Time Music" and even square dancing was enjoyed with the called being "Grandma's" son Frank. "Grandma" received many lovely gifts and thanked one and all for the gifts, their friendship and the many dances and kisses she was treated to. A very happy though belated birthday to a lovely little lady, Kinmount's own "Grandma" Bacon.

A lady who lives on Highway 503 towards Irondale isn't very happy at this time. She worked very hard at making her premises look nice and placed on her lawn a flamingo, a mother duck and two ducklings. They were, in part, a birthday gift from her husband, a few years back, and a keepsake, all she had left from her mother who died some years ago. Last week on two different days, some person/persons took it upon themselves to walk up on this lady's lawn and take her lawn ornaments. If you are the one who did this won't you please return them. She feels badly that she's lost something left her by her mother. She said nothing would be said or done, just please bring them back. While I'm on this subject - where's my green cement frog and the reclining elf I had sitting on our wishing well? You also broke down clumps of my flowers in order to get at the ornaments. If you knew what I wished for you when you lifted the heavy cement frog, you should be hurting about now. The elf has a date and my initials or name in the bottom of it as I had made it myself in ceramics class. Give me the good old days when you could trust anyone and there was respect. It sure seems to be a thing of the past.

Wilberforce News

By WINNIE SCHOFIELD
Frank Saunders, long time Wilberforce resident, died peacefully at his home near Wilberforce Lake on July 14, 1984. Frank had not been well for some time and had recently been hospitalized. The sympathy of the community goes out to his wife Betty and other members of the family. Frank was buried in South Wilberforce cemetery.

Members of the St. Margaret's ACW held a bake sale Saturday morning on the main street of Wilberforce. The ladies appreciated the donations of tarts, home baked bread, pies, muffins and the heaps of other goodies that were so generously provided. Proceeds from the sale will go toward the new roof that is needed on the church. A smiling day and many willing workers made this a very successful venture. Mrs. Sylvia Cameron made her own contribution with a table of quality clothing and knick knacks. President Eileen Agnew won a vote of thanks for her cooling lemonade. All members are thinking of Millie Ross at this time and send out wishes and prayers for her quick recovery.

The Deckhands Puppet Group have been touring the County and bringing pleasure to hundreds of youngsters. On Friday they entertained in the Monmouth Library and had an audience of about 40 children. One favourite presentation was the story of the mean old troll who lived under the bridge and did his best to intimidate three billy goats who wished to cross over. He finally met his match in the largest and strongest of the billy goats. He was defeated and forced into retirement. This should happen to all tyrants. Peace reigned once again.

Summer time is the season for family reunions and friendly get-togethers and one such joyous occasion took place recently when Terrance and Marion Barclay of Wilberforce were united with their four daughters in Burlington. Coming together at the home of Mrs. Jack Wallace with her family and three children were a daughter from Minneapolis, Minnesota with four children and a daughter from Toronto. Grandchildren present at this event numbered eleven. Also visiting were a brother and sister of Mr. Barclay's from Toronto. A party of friends joined the group and, a birthday celebration for Mr. Barclay was held in the garden. The day was blessed with perfect weather. Mr. Barclay received best wishes and gifts, the most precious being a printed and bound copy of a story written for the children many years ago by Mr. Barclay and titled "Finney", the story of a gold fish. Terrance Barclay worked for years at a branch of the Toronto Public Library and moved to Wilberforce on his retirement.

Coming Sunday, July 29 will be an activity race again at Bill's Hills, when the first sanctioned motocross race will be held. There will be races in 10 different classes. The track has just been rebuilt and is comparable to those of California and Florida. Sand style tracks promise to give the riders thrilling competition.

Roller skating is held at the arena every Tuesday and Friday evening from seven till nine. For over 30 years bingo games have been held in Wilberforce, first run by the arena board then taken over by the firemen and run in the Fire Hall. When the new hall was built they moved to that location. This year the games have been cancelled and this is regrettable especially at this time when so many visitors to the area are disappointed that this family pastime is no longer available.

Every Thursday evening tourists have been observed waiting at the hall for the doors to open and the games to begin. Here is a golden opportunity for one of our clubs to find volunteers who are willing to devote one night a week to running the games and, in so doing, raise some much needed funds for the club's operation.

We are all having a refreshing course these days in our 200 year old history. Hilida Clark's contribution to the past was a presentation of Empire Loyalist shortbread cookies to the Saturday bike sale. These were exceptionally tasty so here is the simple recipe: United Empire Loyalist shortbread: 2 cups flour, 1/2 cup of brown sugar, and 1 cup butter. Mix thoroughly until ready to be rolled out like a pie crust. Cut into shapes. Bake at 400° for 8 to 10 minutes until golden. Then enjoy.

The United Church in South Wilberforce will be holding a decoration day service on August 12 at 11:30 a.m. The annual memorial service held at Christ Church in Essonville will take place

August 5 at 3 p.m. The United Church will be in charge of the service this year.

The results of the 50-50 draw sponsored by Minor Hockey Club that took place on July 14 at the Country Good Times dance saw the lucky winner to be Leo Ditschun of Stittsville.

By DONNA BAILEY

As this week was turning out to be a very busy week for me due to in part by meetings to attend, visitations to different parts of our county (in this case Cardiff and Gooderham), budgeting matters to attend to and as our office was going to be short staffed, Anna Nichol and myself made a total of four calls to volunteers to staff the office and received four "Yes" responses. Our office in the afternoon this week will be staffed by: Laura Hartwick on Monday, Mary Hannah on Tuesday, Florence Webb on Wednesday and Betty Strang on Friday. Thank you so much ladies for doing this volunteer office staffing.

Volunteer office staffing will become a much needed service this fall. As this is an equal opportunity volunteer job, men are also invited and encouraged to become office volunteers. We hope that you will phone and volunteer perhaps half a day once a week or bi-weekly to be the receptionist, answer the phone, and take down information from phone calls. It is not a complicated job but a very enjoyable one. Call our office any weekday between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. if you have any questions concerning this volunteer service. We would really appreciate your help in this area.

P.S. I hope you saw our float in the Legion parade last Wednesday night. We really enjoyed the fun we had being part of it.

CAT Scan group gets support

The committee which hopes to raise almost $2 million to buy a Computer Assisted Tomography Scanner for Peterborough Civic Hospital brought its message to Haliburton County council last Wednesday and found support for the plan.

Members of the Peterborough Region CAT Scan fund committee gave a slide presentation to councillors outlining the benefits of the CAT Scan, including testimonials from three people whose lives were saved by information obtained through CAT Scanning.

The scanner would be based in Peterborough and serve a referral area including Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland and Hastings Counties. Ontario's health ministry will contribute $150,000 annually for operating costs of the machine, but it must be purchased with private funds. At present there are 36 CAT Scanners operating in Ontario, council was told.

Members of the committee stressed that they were not asking for money from council. Instead they urged councillors to get the message across to the public about the Peterborough CAT Scan fund raising drive.

Councillors agreed to include information about the campaign in future property tax notice mailings.

The Palmer family had a reunion at the home of Lorraine Woodcock in Wilberforce last Sunday. Family attended from Maple Lake, Carnarvon, Barrie, Toronto, Peterborough, Cobocok, Lakefield and Haliburton. Some of the family hadn't seen some of their relations for 40 years. They had a beautiful day, a wonderful time and want to thank Lorraine.

I am sorry about so much of my column missing last week, but I had used small sheets of paper and one page got misplaced.

Don't forget the Minden Rotary Carnival July 25 and 26. The parade starts at 6:30 Wednesday evening. Thunder Road will be playing at the Community Centre Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. There will be something for everyone. If possible wear pioneer costume.

Bob Wood, we hope you're feeling better after your recent accident.

Don't forget the movies for children at the library/cultural centre every Friday evening from 7:15 to 8:15. Admission is free.

The Red Cross are having a bazaar on the lot beside Cox's Apparel on Main Street, Saturday, August 4 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Congratulations to Sheila and Mark Thompson who were married Saturday, July 21 at the Minden United Church.

The 12th running of the Heineken Yard will be on Friday, July 27. The race will begin at Camp Onondaga. Good luck to all you runners.

Six Pack will be at the Minden Community Centre Saturday, July 28 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Admission is $5. It is sponsored by the Minden Minor Hockey and the proceeds go to the arena plexiglass fund.

Making both ends meet was a good bit easier in the past, when you had more in between to spread around.

The drive-in for Christ movie at the Allsaw Pentecostal Church (on Highway 121 between Minden and Haliburton) Sunday, July 29 is entitled "A Father - A Son - and a Three Mile Run". The movie starts at dusk and admission is free.

Don't forget the Stanhope Fun Day Saturday, July 28. It sounds like fun for the whole family.

Would you believe the United States is the largest consumer of chocolate products, accounting for about one-quarter of world imports. About half of the 450-million pounds annual American import of chocolate is used in the production of sugar confections, including ice cream and about one quarter in chocolate bars.

There will be a puppet show at the library/cultural centre on Thursday, July 26 at 3 p.m.

Winners of last Thursday afternoon's card party at the library/cultural centre were: lone hands, Jack Weeks, and others Irene Houghton and Vera Ward.

Household Hint: Dishes that have become brown from baking may have the stain removed by soaking in a strong Borax and water solution.

Would you believe that the Richter Scale was named after an American seismologist, Charles F. Richter, who in 1935 devised a numerical scale for rating the strength of the earthquake. Only two earthquakes have ever reached a magnitude of 8.9 - one in Colombia in 1906 and the other in Japan in 1933.

Here is a recipe for cheese balls: 3 cups of cheese (medium or old), 1/4 cup green onions, 1-8 oz. package of Philadelphia cream cheese, 1/4 cup sour cream, a dash of Worcestershire sauce, a dash of Tabasco sauce and some walnuts. Form into a ball and roll in walnuts to cover top and sides. Thank you Mrs. Webb.

A great plan to keep the young people home is to make the home a pleasant place and let the air out of their tires.

There is Rotary Bingo every Tuesday evening at the Minden Community Centre. Doors open at 7 p.m. First game is at 7:30. There are special games, a door prize and a weekly jackpot.

Janet McGhee's paintings are still on show at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery and Janet will be holding a workshop on July 28 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. If you are interested phone the gallery as soon as possible as space is limited. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and the number to call is 286-3763.

Here's a diet recipe that some of you wanted. An open faced diet sandwich - 1 package of raw bean sprouts, 1/4 cup low calorie dressing, or more to taste, 1 8 ounce can of tuna fish, drained. Combine the ingredients and season if desired. Serve on diet bread or thin rye bread. Thank you Leona Storc.

George Anderson has been holidaying in the west, visiting his sister in British Columbia and Mrs. Anderson's brother in Calgary.

If you have any news for me to include in my column, please call 286-3607. Thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson spent some time last weekend with their son Bradley in Toronto. The Robinsons and Bradley spent a relaxing day in Niagara Falls before returning home.

We attended a birthday party Saturday, July 21 for a young 86 year old gentleman. Frank Poole celebrated his birthday with some 30 to 40 family and friends.

during transpiration, restoration and photosynthesis. When open, these pores allow gasses and particles to enter the leaf, break up in the fluid between the cells and then recombine to be absorbed, in certain plants, as nutrients.

Altogether, the various plant surfaces, including bark, have been found to trap large quantities (40-50%) of gaseous and particulate pollutants. Trees are most effective. No wonder. A twelve metre tall white pine has about 1.5 square kilometers of surface area, while a single black oak leaf may have up to 800,000 stomates. Generally, the larger the plant or the higher its surface to volume ratio, the better it is at pollution control. Small, rough edged leaves, lots of twigs and rough, furrowed bark make a difference. Naturally, evergreens are effective year round. Also, of course, not all trees can tolerate soil compaction, salt spray, drought and other urban wear and tear and still maintain maximum metabolic rates and stomatal opening, which are necessary to fight pollution. And not all of them can turn pollutants into nutrients. In the Toronto area, for example, the best survivors are the Austrian pine, tree-of-heaven, Manitoba maple, Norway maple and ginkgo.

On a city-scale, vegetation should cover large areas and include a dense mix of evergreen and deciduous species of various heights and ages. Treed areas should lie downwind from pollution sources as well as perpendicular to prevailing winds, with top priority given to buffering facilities where outdoor work and play predominate. Each city requires its own strategy.

Of course, these same principles can be applied to your own personal property. This information and a whole lot more is available in a recent report funded by the York-Toronto Lawn Association. If interested, contact Professor Fidenzio Salvatori, Department of Landscape Architecture, University of Toronto, 230 College Street, Toronto, Ontario, M5S 1A1.

From the Chamber

The Chamber of Commerce is very fortunate this year in again arranging to have Dr. David Blinkhorn to speak at our annual meeting. You may recall Dr. Blinkhorn addressed the subject of Japanese Mangement at last year's meeting. This year he will expand on the same subject in th two seminars arranged. Remember the date, October 10, Wig-A-Mog Inn, first seminar, 9:15 to 10:30, second seminar, 1:45 to 3:00. Members and non-members are welcome.

Plan to attend the Minden Rotary Summer Carnival to be held in Minden at the Community Centre between the hours of 6:00 p.m. and 1:00 a.m. July 25 and 26. There will be a midway, dance and beer garden. For more information call Bob Austin (705) 286-3082.

Stanhope will feature a Fun Day on July 28 at the recreation centre. There will be events for children, a dance, and an art show. Contact Gerald Bain at (705) 489-2379.

Looking for a place to take the whole family this week, why not try the Leslie Frost Natural Resources Centre, located on Highway 35 just 12 km south of Dorset.

Popular two hour presentations are offered on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons between 1:30 - 3:30 p.m. Each program is designed to help you gain an indepth knowledge of one of Ontario's natural resources. The Frost Centre offers you the opportunity to gain some first hand experience with the experts.

Each Saturday morning a Frost Centre staff member will lead 6-12 year olds in an adventure with natural resources. Together you can explore the natural surrounding of the Frost Centre, play environmental games and develop your knowledge of natural history. There is a different program each week. You will be outdoors, so we suggest you wear appropriate clothing and running shoes. The programs begin at 10:30 at the visitors centre and last until 12:30.

Have you ever considered what happens at the Frost Centre? Find out for yourself by joining a staff member who will lead a tour of the campus and explain to you the history of the centre and the activities which visiting groups are involved in. You will see informative exhibits on-wildlife, forestry, geology and snowshoe construction. You can also see a slide presentation on the centre. Tours run from 11:30 - 3:00 Wednesday to Sunday. Phone (705) 766-2451 for more information and to book arrangements for large groups in advance.

Would you like to hear the latest report on the weather in the Haliburton Highlands? Or have you wondered what events are taking place in the Highlands in the next few days? If so, please call (705) 489-3425 for a full report. Compliments of Elgin Stouffer, Halls Lake.

Everyone had a most enjoyable afternoon. A social hour was held from around 3 p.m. so everyone could get to know each other and talk over old times, and a most delicious beffet lunch was served. John played the guitar after lunch; he and Frank treated us with a sing-along. Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon. Thanks to Frank and Em and also to all who helped make the day such a success. Happy birthday Frank and I hope you have many more.

That's all for this week. I hope to see you all next week.

ster Russell Ramsay extended an apology to women for remarks he made that layoffs of about 1,600 Simpsons employees were not as tragic as they might have been because many were "secondary wage earners."

Questioned by women's groups, including the National Action Committee on the Status of Women, Ramsay said, "at no time in my remarks did I refer to or even consider the male/female distinction."

He conceded it was natural to draw the conclusion that he was referring to women when he mentioned "secondary wage earners." He said: "I sincerely regret having made it."

National Action Committee president Chaviva Hosek claimed the apology is not enough, since Ramsay has the power to change the law to achieve equality for women in the workplace "and prove that working women are not considered a secondary labour force."

is celebrating her 90th birthday this 19th day of July.

Thursday afternoon the ladies from Lutterworth Pines brought in a nice lunch and served it up so fine. We thank you for coming this fine July day.

Friday morning the weatherman said the weather would be fair. So they packed us a lovely picnic lunch, we climbed in the bus and headed for Extensicare. There we picked up a few more residents, then went to Head Lake Park. We had just found a nice parking place when the clouds rolled in quite dark. Some got out to eat their lunch, others stayed within. We just got started to eat and the rain came down again. Thanks to those who tried to see that we all had food and drink. They did a good job too. As we were returning home, the sun came shining through.

The Lochlin Sournotes came on Friday night and entertained us grandly with songs like Moonlight Day, You Are My Sunshine and He's Got the Whole World in His Hands. They also have a fiddle player, a good one too. He can play toe tapping tunes, I am telling you. They played some sacred numbers before they took a bow. Then they said goodnight to all before we leave you now.

of Toronto Olympic Club expected to show up, a close race is likely, as each competitor jockeys for a favourable pack position over the quick course.

Other features of the 'Yard will include a team from the Muskoka Festival professional theatre. The Muskoka Festival's schedule of productions are staged by companies in Port Carling and Gravenhurst. Their touring companies aptly perform a farce titled "See How They Run" which has been described by some cottage country critics as a "fast paced comedy." Marianne Woods and James Fagan Tait are the actor/athletes who will try to apply the same pace to the road race as they do to the road.

Awards will be presented to the top finishers at 6 p.m.

also work part-time at the Ontario Crafts Council office in Toronto in order to make a living. "I've resigned myself to the fact that it's not a money making proposition," she says.

Anderson has also gone to schools and conducted workshops in mask making for children ranging in age from nine to twelve years old. "They really thrive on it," she says. "It's very hard to put on a mask. Most adults are very inhibited." But she finds that children are much more willing to get involved. "Teaching is a relatively new thing for me. I'm beginning to realize that it's a whole craft of its own," she says.

Next fall, however, Anderson will return to school not as a teacher, but as a student. She plans to attend university where she will do a Masters Degree, centring on why women did not participate in the ritual of masks in primitive societies. "I vowed that I'd never go back to school," she says, but adds that now she is quite excited about the opportunity to conduct research on an aspect of her own craft.
